Data quality notes for Sika Australia

While we built this preview we read your public product pages and data sheets closely. These are the things we noticed that you may want to look at. We are sharing them because they might save your team time, and they cost you nothing.

Everything here comes from public pages and public PDFs only, read on 2026-10-30. Nothing behind a login was touched. We show each value as printed and never correct anything ourselves.

221 products with no product photo published

12 printed values that may be typing slips (9 products)

26 document links that return "not found"

213 products with no published consumption rate

1. Printed values that may be typing slips (12 places in 9 products)

These look like small typing slips on the data sheet. The two humidity limits on Sikafloor-264 and the swapped maximum and minimum on Sika Primer-3 N are the ones we would look at first, because someone on site could act on them.

A note on safety data sheet versions

Some products have more than one safety data sheet revision published. For example the Davco Ceramacrete SDS dated 04.03.2025 lists H350 and the one dated 31.10.2025 does not. The preview always quotes the latest revision for the product name and shows its revision date and version on every safety answer.
